

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS of People Helping with Collecting Confederate Paper Money – Field Edition 2008

This book represents over 200 person-years of research effort by notable researchers from the 19th century to the present. I have received enthusiastic help and great input from many friends, collectors and dealers. I thank all of them wholeheartedly. I am grateful to the following individuals for their efforts reviewing the draft(s), contributing discoveries, pointing out errors, asking hard and easy questions, inviting me to speak, selling or showing me great note for the condition census and support.

Of course, a special thanks to Dr. Douglas Ball, who helped me get started collecting Confederate paper money and whose work is a key input and foundation for these Collecting Confederate Paper Money books.

Dr. Philip Chase deserves recognition as one of Dr. Ball's mentors, the author of the 1947 Confederate Treasury Notes book, and whose research was a key input and foundation for Dr. Ball's work.

I add a special thanks to Randy Shipley for listening to me go on and on about all of these varieties and types, issues with grading, providing some of the scans for the types and counterfeits, and helping me in many other areas.

Ned Lea, Randy Shipley, Randall Smith, and George Tremmel provided scans of some of the counterfeits. Roger Adamek, Dale Alberstone, Marvin Ashmore, Jack Bridges, Keith Edwards, Ralph Plumb, Warren Robinson, Amanda Sheheen, Randy Shipley, Randall Smith, R. M. Smythe, Crutch Williams, and Paul Whaley provided some of type and variety scans featured.

I also must thank these people for giving me access to their magnificent institutional collections:

- John M. Coski, Heather Milne and staff at the Museum of the Confederacy
- Robert Hoge of the American Numismatic Society

- George Fiencke of the Smithsonian Institution
- Linda M. McCurdy and her staff at Duke University

I thank John Ford, Jr. for his wonderful notations in his personal copy of “The Currency of the Confederate States” by Raphael Thian with his or a predecessor’s notations.

I also include Larry Marsh of the Civil War Shop in the New Orleans French Quarter for many an interesting story while visiting him there.

I thank those who have passed on, but left great work for me to build on. At least some of their work or guidance, published and unpublished, was either given directly to me, found in Dr. Ball’s or Dr. Chase’s personal libraries or in other places.

I must thank the Early American Coppers organization for teaching me how to be a collector, how to find and identify rarities, and how to grade. In particular, I must mention Bob Grellman, Bill Noyes, Tom Reynolds, Jack Robinson, and John Wright for their guidance and example. Jack Robinson set an example with his Copper Quotes by Robinson, Bob Grellman with his work on late date large cents and his experiences doing a comprehensive book for collectors, and Bill Noyes who built on Dr. Sheldon’s work starting 60 years ago and is the custodian of the leading condition census in the coin and paper money hobby by far.

I thank my parents, Edwin Pierre Fricke, Sr. and Janet B Fricke, and grandmother who started me on this journey many years ago.

Finally, special thanks to my wife, Joyce, who supported this effort lovingly and wholeheartedly. She kept me going!
